

These 8 unique table lamps are perfect for your shopping wish list

There's something so special about table lamps; they can make a room feel instantly cozier and more welcoming. While they essentially add to ambient and task lighting, their contribution to light layering in a home is important.

Lamps add that extra warmth to the overall mood and even illuminate corners and areas that are either left dark or unnoticed. Plus, these available in varied designs and colors help fold in extra style and panache to the room. While most of us love the idea of a table lamp, figuring out which piece works best for your living room lighting scheme or bedroom and kitchen can be confusing.

To help you with this matter, we decided to create a very special edit of table lamps, and point you in the right direction as to where you can buy them. Take a look at this wholesome list, and get inspired.

2. THIS TABLE LAMP THAT COMPLEMENTS THE ROOM YET MAKES A STATEMENT

(Image credit: Etch Design Group. Photo credit Ryann Ford)

Adding more lights to space doesn't mean that every fixture needs to stand out, and look individualistic. Lamps, especially, since are on the same eye level as furniture, can easily merge with the ongoing scheme while adding depth through warm light. This is a great example.

The white lamp coordinates wonderfully with the white walls and living room furniture, while its gold frame gives it a subtle edge. The function of the piece is to cast light on the artwork and the seating, without having to disrupt sight lines.

'Most lighting comes from above, but when you have lighting at eye level (whether standing or sitting), it creates a warm and cozy atmosphere,' says Stephanie Lindsey, principal designer at Etch Design Group.

'Lighting is all about the balance of dark and bright, and this can completely change the vibe of a space,' says Stephanie. 'Consider the feel you're going for before you decide on lighting. In a living room, for instance, the goal is often comfort and coziness. You'd start with an eye-catching fixture in the middle of the room and then add warmth with table lamps. Accent lights are also a must if the room's design contains art.'